The Democratic party goes before the people this year with one of the strongest tickets it has presented in years. The head of the ticket is an able man who will make the State a good Governor. The able and efficient attorney in which he constant the Steel investigation when in the National Congress is sufficient warranty to the people of the State that he will prevent and keep down graft in the conduct of the State's affairs.

The investigation of the Steel Trust was a Herculean task, yet he set about it with that tenacious spirit which knows no such word as fail, and succeeded in unfolding this intricate maze, and exposing its violations of the Anti-trust laws, that this was declared a monopoly in restraint of trade, and the result was its dissolution.

Fortunately the whisky question will be out of politics for the next session of the Legislature at least, and our State officials can turn their time to many other matters which the whisky question has crowded to the background. It matters not whether the voters views on the whisky question are in accord with Mr. Stanley's or not, that question is now eliminated, and the question which the voter should ask himself are as to whether Mr. Stanley and the other worthy and able men on the ticket, give to Kentucky an economical and progressive administration of the State's affairs.

Will they pass needed legislation and take of the statutes some that should be repealed.

Will there be questions of special privilege and immunity to those who wish to live in the "House that graft built." The best answer to be given to this is Mr. Stanley's record as a cogressman. If he has served well in the past, he can be succeeded in the future. If he succeeds in the greater task, he is able to master the smaller.

Successful Meeting

The Educational meeting of the teachers in Division No. 1 was held at Fredericktown Saturday, Oct. 2nd. An appreciable number was present, a delicious and beautiful dinner served, an interesting and instructive program rendered.

Mr. Jerome Wilson in few well chosen words extended a cordial welcome to all present, also advanced some valuable suggestions on the need of a school supervision.

The pupils of Fredericktown school did credit to themselves, and their teachers Mr. Wilson and Miss M. L. Lamban in the rendition of their songs, and recitations.

The importance of consolidation, was ably handled by Miss Bernice Mattigly, whose every word was interesting because of its ring of sincerity and enthusiasm.

any which accompanied it and showed the disadvantages of the one teacher in the school.

In an able talk on "Value of theory in School," Miss Annie M. Osborne aptly brought forth the effects of the story in forming character, showing that in no other way can the best instincts of the child be appealed to and turned into strong manhood and womanhood as through the story.

"Character Building" was next subject for discussion, was discussed by Mr. George Nickle, who maintains that those who are in the care of the teacher must be taught by example, to strive for purity of thought and liberality of character.

The closing feature of the day, which each and every teacher had a part in, was the Prof. Corbin's secretary and inspiring talk.

Superintendent E. A. Simonon, who presided over the meeting in closing remarks, congratulated the parents and teachers of the community upon the success of the meeting, and urged that other districts hold up the standard set here.

ham's Vegetable

Compound.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"After my little one year I was sick with pains in the sides which the doctors said were caused by indigestion. I suffered a great deal every month and very often I was under the doctor's care for one year without any benefit. Finally after repeated suggestions to try it and after reading the testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I decided to try it. I was able to do my household work and feel strong and healthy again. I will never tell if anyone wishes to know about my case."—Mrs. Joseph Adams, 625 Monroe St., N. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable

Compound made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy we know for women's ills. If you need such a medicine why don't you try it?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Medford, N. J., vice. Your letter will be opened

School Fair.
Our enterprising School Supporter does not prepare her pennium list for the contest in the coming School Fair which will be held shortly. The pen-nium list is rather large and encompasses a large number of good materials as well as many small pennies. These prizes will be given to pupils who show proficiency in the various subjects, and demonstrate their qualifications in writing, composing, athletic exercises and manual training work. The fair was held at the Opera House last year and was largely attended, both by pupils and parents. There was suad on Yates, and attachment issued, and levied on proceeds of Riley's wages. The court after hearing the proof and argument of counsel gave judgment for part of Yates' claim and also for 10 per cent. of the attached wages. There was a lively scrap between the attorneys over some legal points raised in the case.

Twins Die.
Mrs. Elizabeth McLaughlin has received word of the death of her twin grandchildren, the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McLaughlin of Washington City where they have been living for some time.
The children were born here about twelve months ago. They died within a few hours of each other and were both buried in the same casket.

Oldest Resident Dies.
In the death of Mr. W. B.
Spears which occurred at the Masses Home at Shelbyville last Monday morning, the oldest native of Springfield has gone to his reward. Mr.
Spears father, Mr. David Spears came to Springfield about the year 1820, and married Miss Elizabeth Gibbins and Mr. W.
B. Spears was born here April 6th 1824. In the year 1846 Mr.
Spears became a member of the Masonic Fraternity and at the time of his death was the second oldest member of the order of the State. He was a man of high character, and pleasant manner. When the Civil War broke out he enlisted in the Southern Army being a member of Company "A," Sixth Kentucky Infantry. He served through the entire war and was member of the famous Orphan Bride, so named from the fact that so many of his comrades were killed in action. He was distinguished for his fearlessness in the battle which he fought at Fort Fisher. After the war he returned to Springfield, and was married to Miss Jane Handley, who died about 15 years ago. He is survived by one sister Mrs.
Marie Ball of Ft. Madison, Iowa, and a number of nieces and nephews, among whom are Mrs.
C. D. Bannan and Mr. A. C.
Kimball of this place. He was a one-bottle and member of the Methodist church and in the early history of that church in Springfield, he was its principle supporter. In his early life he was the business of a millwright, and his occupation brought him through life. He was a very capable auctioneer and some years ago every big sale for miles around was carried by Mr. Spears.

He was a good conversationalist and possessed a wonderful memory. His early recollections of Springfield and the County were up until his death very vivid.
His remains arrived here Tuesday on the noon train, and funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church by Rev.
R. E. O. Lawson, at which the Masonic Fraternity, and the daughters of the Confederacy took charge of the remains, and conducted services at the grave.

Change in Ministers.
The Methodist Conference met at Hartford last week, and made changes in the assignments of ministers for this conference.
Rev. O. R. Crowe who has been the popular pastor here for the past year will go to Bradenbury Ky., where he will be the pastor for the coming year. While here Rev. Crowe has made many interesting friends, not only in the city but among other members of the denomination as well.
We have already found him a very liberal man, meeting everybody with a smile. While we regret to lose him from our midst yet we can congratulate Bradenbury, on receiving so worthy a man.
The Methodist pulpit here will be filled by Rev. S. L. C.
Gowder who comes here from Mt. Washington. He is a man of fine character, a good preacher, and a fine citizen. For many years, and we feel that the people of Springfield will find in him a most excellent gentleman and worthy minister.

In The Courts.
The Fiscal Court of Washington county has been in session for the past two days in the regular October term. The first matter presented for consideration was the passing upon and allowance of sheep claims.
The tax on dogs for the present year is about $1000. It is presumed that this is just and correct.
It would indeed be that there are only 800 canines in the county, and notwithstanding the decrease(?) the ones left seem to have more voracious appetites, as the number of sheep killed during the past year has been claimed that of any previous years, and the amount paid on claims will be approximately 25 per cent.
The claims of the faller and poor house keeper were presented and allowed.
On Tuesday the Court adjourned for one hour in the afternoon, and attended in a body the funeral of W. B. Spears, one of the county's oldest citizens.
The bridge over a creek and mill race near Maud. The old bridge has become in a complete state of disrepair and is unsafe for travel. The matter of erecting an iron bridge over the place was agitated, but the court after viewing the situation deemed it advisable to repair the old one and $75 was appropriated for that purpose.
Monday was the regular term of the Springfield Police Court with Judge Noy presiding.
There was a fair sized crowd and several default judgments taken. The only case in which there was a contest was that of R. Yates vs. Alvin Riley which was a contest over an account.
